

SAVE $ ON ENERGY BILLS & BENEFIT OUR SHUL

Several years ago, Jim Nadel & Mickey Gilbert, spearheaded a fundraiser that directly benefits both you and the Hebrew Institute. They courted a business relationship with Econergy Energy Company and have been offering you and your businesses a savings each month and our synagogue a “commission check” when your bills are paid every month. The monies raised have been used to support various synagogue programs. At this time there are opportunities for even better energy savings.

Our new energy programs will allow us to “lock-in” a fixed price for gas (in the winter) and for electric supply (in the summer) when the markets are most susceptible to significant price spikes and volatility. We can enjoy the protection that these programs provide instead of riding variable pricing and our synagogue will continue to benefit by receiving a “commission check” each month.

At this time Jim and Mick would like to thank all members of our congregation who have participated in our energy program thus far and, at the same time, would like to welcome our new members and those that are not yet participants, and encourage them to join us in this painless fundraising opportunity. Information will be available via the shul e-mail and snail mail in the coming weeks and we urge everyone to consider participation in this program. Can you think of any other Shul program where there is absolutely no additional cost for you to perform the mitzvah of tzedakah by paying your home energy bills and still receiving a discount on your energy supply charges?

For more information, contact James Nadel at 914-381-6300 during regular business hours or evenings at 646-852-1107.